AN UNFORGETTABLE YEAR

SMU celebrated the centennial of its opening as well as the successful completion of the largest campaign in University history in 2015–16, during a year that will be remembered for as long as SMU exists. As the campus community joined together to mark SMU’s first 100 years of achievement, donors to The Second Century Campaign propelled SMU into the ranks of the nation’s most prestigious institutions of higher education through their generous and, ultimately, record-setting support. The spirit of progress that has marked SMU in recent years continued to permeate life on the Hilltop, as the University took new strides to enhance and strengthen its student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. And, as students and faculty attained ever-increasing levels of accomplishment, the University began to look forward to the next chapter of its life as a global resource dedicated to education and the creation of new knowledge.

Members of the Centennial Host Committee, alumni, parents, faculty, staff and students take part in a formal procession to McFarlin Auditorium as part of SMU’s centennial commemoration ceremony during Homecoming Weekend in September 2015.

LETTER FROM THE CHAIR OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

October 2016

This SMU 2015–16 Annual Report is the record of an extraordinary year in the life of the University. In recent months the campus community commemorated the end of The Second Century Celebration, which marked the anniversaries of SMU’s founding and opening, and SMU Unbridled: The Second Century Campaign, the largest fundraising initiative in SMU’s history.

President R. Gerald Turner’s announcement that the campaign total had reached $1.15 billion was a proud moment for all of us who care about the future of SMU. All Mustangs should be proud of the leadership of President Turner, whose vision and unflagging efforts were central to the campaign’s achievements. I also want to express my appreciation to the 65,000 generous donors whose gifts have had such a profound impact and enabled SMU to set a record for the largest amount ever raised by a private university in Texas.

The Second Century Campaign donors provided 689 new endowed student scholarships; raised the previous number of 62 endowed faculty positions to a new total of 116; and provided for 68 new or significantly enhanced academic programs and initiatives, including endowments for two schools. Twenty-four capital projects also have been substantially funded.

While the campaign’s statistics are astonishing, the true story of the campaign’s impact will only be told in the years to come. That impact will reveal itself in the lives of students who benefit from the extraordinary education they receive, the top faculty experts who advance their fields and create new knowledge that drives our economy, and in SMU’s growing influence as a national and international leader in education and research.

Thanks are due to all Second Century Campaign volunteers, whose hard work did so much to achieve campaign success. I want also to express my heartfelt gratitude to the other members of the Campaign Leadership Council for their efforts, wisdom and generosity, all of which were of paramount importance in this extraordinary endeavor.

Because of the inspiring contributions of Second Century Campaign donors, I strongly believe that SMU’s best days are still to come. I hope that all who played a part in the campaign take pride in the future you have made possible.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

October 2016

This 2015–16 Annual Report tells the story of the year that served as a capstone to both the celebration of SMU’s centennial and The Second Century Campaign, the first in SMU history to exceed $1 billion. It was a year of major progress, as SMU continued to enhance the quality of our students, faculty and campus – thanks to you and tens of thousands of fellow supporters.

As you will see in the pages of this report, the entrepreneurial spirit of the University – one of its distinguishing characteristics – remains strong. Students and faculty in every academic discipline are seeing opportunities to create something new in the world and working hard to bring those ideas to life.

The University’s founders had the foresight to understand what a great institution of higher education could mean for an ambitious young city. Stories throughout this report show how SMU’s relationship with Dallas continues to enable students and faculty to take advantage of unique learning, research, social and career opportunities that provide a platform for making global impact.

In December 2015, the SMU Board of Trustees endorsed a new strategic plan for the University that charts a course for the next decade, one in which the University will continue to enhance its programs, expand its global impact and rise in prominence. Building on its current strengths, SMU will continue to respond to the evolving needs of constituents within the Metroplex and beyond, to make an impact that transcends borders in our global society.

The University’s first president, Robert S. Hyer, said at SMU’s founding, “Universities do not grow old, but live from age to age in immortal youth.” Appropriately, SMU continues to evolve to address the changing needs of our students and our world while remaining true to what has always made the University great.

Thank you for all you do to contribute to SMU’s bold future.

R. Gerald Turner
President

SMU CELEBRATES CENTENNIAL ON HOMECOMING WEEKEND

SMU marked Homecoming Weekend in September with a historic, high-spirited celebration of the University's 100th birthday. Highlights included a centennial countdown concert, a commemorative worship service, a special all-campus ceremony and a picnic. Bells pealed Sept. 24 at United Methodist churches across the state in support of SMU's centennial.

The annual Homecoming parade featured the SMU Parade of Giants, 10 towering puppets representing key figures in SMU history, along with student-built floats and more than 30 former Homecoming queens and kings. A centennial fireworks extravaganza capped the weekend.

The centennial commemoration marked the conclusion of SMU's Second Century Celebration, a five-year period from 2011 through 2015 commemorating the 100th anniversaries of the University's founding and opening. The Second Century Celebration was a historic opportunity to highlight SMU's progress and growing international prominence in leadership, innovation, creativity and service.

The celebration also helped shine a bright light on the achievements and contributions made by SMU students, faculty and alumni who have defined the University as a top-tier institution with global impact. Special commemorations, including Year of the Library, Year of the Faculty and Year of the Student, celebrated the importance of key components of the University.

SMU owes a debt of gratitude to the leaders and members of the Centennial Host Committee, who spearheaded The Second Century Celebration and whose efforts throughout the celebration were critical in ensuring its success. For more information, please visit smu.edu/100.

CAMPAIGN FINAL YEAR ACHIEVES UNBRIDLED SUCCESS

SMU Unbridled: The Second Century Campaign, which officially ended December 31, 2015, raised gifts totaling $1.15 billion, the largest amount ever raised by a private university in Texas. SMU celebrated the accomplishments of SMU Unbridled: The Second Century Campaign during the first Founders' Day Weekend of the University's second century, April 15-16. The SMU community gathered for a campaign finale on the South Plaza of the Hughes-Trigg Student Center with a salute to the campaign's major and leadership donors, the dedication of the Crain Family Centennial Promenade and the unveiling of a campaign major donor monument, including plaques listing major donors to The Second Century Campaign.

The following pages provide an overview of the campaign's key accomplishments. For more details about campaign achievements and complete lists of campaign donors and volunteers, please visit smu.edu/secondcentury.

BROAD SUPPORT

The Second Century Campaign, the largest and most successful fundraising initiative in SMU's history, raised $1.15 billion for the enhancement of the University's student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. While the campaign officially ended December 31, 2015, it continues to have an impact on every department and area as well as on each of SMU's three campuses, in Dallas, Plano and Taos, New Mexico. The campaign also strengthened SMU's national presence, drawing increased focus on the University's progress and growth and generating gifts from alumni, family and friends across the country and also internationally. For a campaign timeline, please visit smu.edu/secondcentury.

ALUMNI GIVING

The Second Century Campaign set records for two key areas: 59 percent of alumni giving over the course of the campaign, and 26 percent of alumni giving in a single year, doubling the percentage before the campaign.

YEARLY ALUMNI GIVING

CAMPAIGN ALUMNI GIVING

STUDENT QUALITY

Scholarship support is crucial in helping SMU attract and retain top undergraduate and graduate students, and can be life changing for student recipients. Thanks to support for The Second Century Campaign, SMU donors gave annually to hundreds of scholarships and created 689 endowed scholarships. The number greatly exceeds the University's original goal of creating 500 endowed scholarships during the campaign. The range of academic scholarships offered by SMU has broadened to include general University scholarships as well as those that support specific studies, majors and interests. Together, they make SMU more accessible to students from diverse backgrounds, including many with substantial economic need.

NEW ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS

Increasing the number of endowed scholarships enables SMU to attract and retain the best students nationally and will continue to help the University compete for top students well into the future. Donors to endowed and annual student support gathered with current benefactors throughout the campaign.

FACULTY AND ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The extraordinary quality of SMU's faculty is a defining feature of the University. Support for The Second Century Campaign enabled SMU to add 54 endowed faculty positions, reaching a University total of 116, and to provide funding for 68 new or enhanced academic programs and initiatives, including endowments for two schools. Endowments for new faculty positions enable SMU to broaden significantly the subjects researched and taught at the University. Thanks to campaign support, SMU will be able to provide faculty expertise on society's most pressing issues well into the future.

INCREASED ENDOWED FACULTY POSITIONS

Faculty experts enhance the overall quality and academic reputation of a University. Through donor support, SMU achieved and surpassed the goal of having a total of 110 endowed faculty positions, reaching 116. The University also surpassed the goal of having 25 percent of tenured faculty in endowed chairs or professorships, reaching 29.6 percent in fall 2015, a percentage that places SMU among a select group of peer institutions.

The SMU campus community gathers in Dallas Hall in March 2015 to celebrate a gift of $45 million from The Meadows Foundation to Meadows School of the Arts and the Meadows Museum, the largest single gift in SMU history. The gift was made as SMU marked the 50th anniversary of the Meadows Museum and the centennial of the University's opening.

GROWTH IN CAMPUS HOUSING

SMU Students Living on Campus

Opened in fall 2014, these new facilities added space for 1,250 SMU students, as part of the transition to a new campus-wide Residential Commons.

WORLD-CHANGING STUDENTS

Top students add immeasurably to the quality of a great university. The 689 endowed SMU student scholarships added through The Second Century Campaign have helped populate the Hilltop with some of the brightest young minds in the United States and many foreign countries. The extraordinary students pursuing knowledge at SMU distinguished themselves in 2015–16 through achievement in the classroom, in the library, in the laboratory, on the sports field and through their artistic expression. SMU’s inspiring students are demonstrating as never before that SMU is a national center for teaching, learning and research.

◦ LIFE CHANGER ◦

Nariana Sands '16, a double major in computer science and engineering in the Lyle School of Engineering, spearheaded an initiative to turn a student-run SMU program for teaching English to University service workers into a permanent student organization with ongoing funding through SMU's Engaged Learning program. (Read more about Engaged Learning on page 21.) Nariana, pictured at AT&T, where she had a summer internship working on emerging technologies with mobile applications, was named among Dallas-Fort Worth's Most Influential College Students of 2016 by The City Influencer magazine.

STUDENT BODY STATS

A total of 11,643 students were enrolled at SMU in fall 2015, including 6,411 undergraduate students and 5,232 graduate and professional students. They came from all 50 states and 92 foreign countries. Approximately 59 percent came from Texas, 41 percent from other U.S. states and 14 percent from foreign countries. Minority students constituted about 26 percent of the overall student population.

STUDENTS EARN PRESTIGIOUS ACADEMIC AWARDS

SMU students received national scholarships, fellowships and awards in 2015-16, in recognition of their remarkable accomplishments and to support further in-depth study and research both at SMU and across the globe.

SCHOLARSHIP AND STUDENT SUPPORT GROWS

Gifts for scholarships and other forms of student support are critical for helping SMU attract and retain high-performing undergraduate and graduate students. Increasing scholarship funding was one of three key priorities of The Second Century Campaign, and throughout 2015-16 SMU received support for a total of 102 endowed scholarships, plus generous annual gifts for student support. The range of academic scholarships created by generous donors has broadened to include general University scholarships, those that support studies in specific subjects and specific majors, scholarships for veterans and military dependents, and those that enhance diversity on the SMU campus.

Leading support for students received in 2015-16 included:

- $3.8 million for Hunt Leadership Scholarship Program from Nancy Ann Hunter Hunt '65 and Ray L. Hunt '65
- $1.75 million from Sarah Fullinwider Perot '83 and Ross Perot, Jr., to establish the Thomas W. Luce, III Centennial Dedman Law Scholars Program

STUDENTS EXPRESS GRATITUDE FOR LIFE-CHANGING SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year scholarship recipients are invited to write letters of appreciation to donors whose generosity has enabled them to attend the University. It is an SMU Annual Report tradition to present a few excerpts from these many heartfelt notes, which are below:

Thank you for your kindness and generosity in providing scholarships for students like myself. I am so grateful to be the recipient of an Edwin L. Cox BBA Scholarship, without which none of the wonderful experiences I have enjoyed at SMU would have been possible. It is my hope that I might be able to similarly impact the lives of others one day.

Catherine Brinker '17

At the end of this year I am applying to medical school. At SMU, my studies have provided me with a great sense of satisfaction, a feeling of purpose and a tangible measure of success. I will always remember the impact that this scholarship has had on my life; I would not be at SMU without your support.

Lucy McCollom '17

One of the most exciting parts of my time here at SMU has been my involvement with the Engineers Without Borders and our project in Bolivia designing and beginning to implement a constant source of water for a community. I am extremely grateful for your generous contribution to my education, which is constantly molding me into a better student and better person.

Richey Burns '18

I truly feel like SMU provides the best opportunities for growth and leadership for any field of interest, especially to undergraduate students. Here, I have garnered a passion for educating others about human rights around the world, and this would not be at all possible without your generosity, so thank you!

STUDENTS' BIG IDEAS BENEFIT SOCIETY

In 2015-16 Big iDeas marked its ninth year as SMU's signature program for student development of sustainable ideas that bring value to society. Fifteen undergraduate teams launched new businesses through the initiative. These six interdisciplinary student teams won grants of up to $5,000 through the Big iDeas Business Plan Competition in January:

- Jack Reynolds '15, Edward Allegra '16 and Miguel Quimbar '17 developed their BioLum smartphone-based imaging system that is able to diagnose, monitor and help treat asthma.
- Andrew Elias '19, Nayla Chalhoub '17, Hannah Taylor '16 and Joey McAteer '16 created Home Run Deliveries, an app that will enable people to order food from concession stands at sporting events and have it delivered to their seats.
- Jason Waller '17 founded Emergent Services, which helps veterans transition from active duty by working with insurance companies to employ them as independent property insurance adjusters.
- Anna Norkett '16 and Olivia Nguyen '17 created College Bound, a Saturday enrichment program that prepares low-income students who are first-generation Americans to both gain admission to and succeed in college.
- Meghan Scott '17, Katie Meier '16, Margie Anderson '17, Caroline Carter '18, Emily Towler '16, Pranav Pradeep '19, Jordan Vallee '18, Kayce Pederson '16, Maddie Herskind '16 and Mackenzie Korsi '19 organized the third annual Reading for a Reason, an event promoting literacy among elementary students in underprivileged parts of Dallas and educating parents in how best to support them.
- Tor Lundstrom '18 and Arthur Work '18 created Leviathan, a versatile and easy-to-use computer privacy solution for casual surfers through corporations.

STUDENTS EXCEL IN ENGAGED LEARNING

A record-setting 170 SMU undergraduates created cutting-edge projects in research, service and creative activities through SMU's Engaged Learning initiative in 2015-16. Since its inception in 2011, 82 percent of the program's graduating seniors have been accepted into graduate school or obtained employment in a field directly related to their project. Engaged Learning students, called Fellows, work closely with a University mentor to develop an individual research, creative, service or internship project that expands their classroom learning. Approved projects are eligible to receive up to $2,000 in grants for related expenses, and each completed project is documented in the SMU Digital Repository.

Students who successfully complete all four phases of an Engaged Learning Fellowship – proposal, project, presentation and publication – receive University Curriculum credit and a special notation on their transcript at graduation. A small sample illustrates the diversity of interests and achievements:

- Ryan Blitzer '16, an advertising major in Meadows School of the Arts, created Pieces, a feature-length film exploring the nature of people with Dissociative Identity Disorder, their coping mechanisms and their ability to form relationships.
- Daniel Gum '16, a physics and mechanical engineering double major in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences and the Lyle School, discovered more than a dozen new stars by analyzing previously known variable stars, gamma ray bursts and other phenomena detectable with SMU's ROTSE-III telescope at McDonald Observatory.
- Nohemi Mora '16, an environmental engineering major in Lyle School of Engineering, developed an activity book to teach children about the air-quality index as an intern in the City of Dallas Office of Environmental Quality. She also developed Spanish-language outreach materials on water conservation tailored for Dallas' Latino communities. Nohemi was the University's 2015-16 Umphrey Lee Award winner for community involvement.
- Reagan Rexford '16, a biological sciences and markets and culture double major in Dedman College, shadowed dentists administering care in rural Panamá, where she became part of a team created to promote routine dental hygiene. She later developed an afterschool dental outreach program for young children and their families in Dallas.

SMU STUDENTS SHARE IDEAS WITH INTERNATIONAL THOUGHT LEADERS

A record number of SMU students discussed their work on issues affecting their communities and the world at the 2016 Clinton Global Initiative University (CGI U) meeting in April. Nine undergraduate and graduate students were selected to travel to the University of California-Berkeley to meet and share ideas with international thought leaders and policy makers. Graduate student Devon Skerritt was invited to attend the CGI-America meeting in June based on the promise of his project to educate and develop the next generation of social impact entrepreneurs.

RESEARCH DAY HIGHLIGHTS STUDENTS' WORK IN VARIOUS DISCIPLINES

Students showed their work across a variety of disciplines at Research Day 2016 in February. The annual event brings together the campus community with peers and industry leaders in North Texas. Research Day presenters include both master's and doctoral candidates as well as a growing number of undergraduate researchers. Here are some of the presenters:

- Subil Abraham '16, a Ph.D. graduate in computer science and engineering in the Lyle School, is working to establish accurate and effective analytics strategies that will protect critical information infrastructures from external threats.
- Faris Altamimi '12, a Ph.D. candidate in civil and environmental engineering in the Lyle School of Engineering, is researching ways to manage the natural biological reactions in landfill garbage to achieve overall reduction in waste and increased production and capture of methane for energy use.
- Rose Ashraf '16, a Ph.D. candidate in psychology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences who earned her master's degree from SMU, is studying how harsh verbal discipline in the home predicts cessation of conflict. She won the award for best graduate student paper at the biennial meeting of the Society for Research in Human Development, held in Denver in March.
- Patricia Nance '17, a chemistry and mathematics major in Dedman College, is investigating antimicrobial inorganic polymers called polyphosphazenes that may serve as infection-preventing surface coatings for reconstructive breast implants. She received a 2016-17 Barry Goldwater Scholarship and will present her research at the national American Chemical Conference in Philadelphia this fall.
- Nicholas Saulnier '15, a master's degree candidate in electrical engineering in the Lyle School, has created a mobile, low-cost hardware and software design that will allow nurses without specialized training to screen patients for cervical cancer – the third most common cancer worldwide and the leading cause of cancer mortality among women in developing countries.

Nearly 500 SMU students studied abroad in 2015-16 with SMU Abroad programs in Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin and South America, the Middle East and Oceania during 2015-16. SMU offers 148 programs in 50 countries, with unique opportunities for international research, study tours, internships and service. SMU also offered other opportunities for global education. They included:

- Richter Fellowships, awarded to approximately 25 undergraduate Honors students, enabling them to conduct independent research projects on topics of international dimensions or multicultural projects within the United States or abroad under the guidance of a faculty mentor.
- Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility Public Service Fellowships, which in 2015-16 provided summer stipends for 11 undergraduate and graduate students to conduct ethics research in locations around the world. Projects ranged from volunteering with a foundation to provide emergency assistance following the April 2015 earthquake in Nepal to interning with a London nonprofit dedicated to serving refugees while examining social, economic and political inclusivity for ostracized immigrants.
- The Embrey Human Rights Program, through which 18 SMU students, alumni, faculty and community members traveled to Italy in March to learn about the nearly 8,000 victims of the Holocaust in the country during World War II. The group visited sites in and around Rome, Florence, Bologna, Bolzano and Trieste to “confront the horrific crimes Germans committed against Jews and other innocent civilians, especially after Italy switched sides in 1943 and joined the Allied effort,” said Director Rick Halperin.
- SMU Alternative Breaks, a student organization offering community service trips in the United States and abroad during academic breaks. Eight teams of students, faculty and staff took advantage of spring break to serve communities across the country, including at a food bank in Atlanta, a child crisis center in St. Louis and a disaster recovery organization in New Orleans.
- The 2016 Civil Rights Pilgrimage, which brought students, faculty and staff together to visit historic sites and meet with witnesses of the Civil Rights movement. During an eight-day bus journey participants walked across Selma’s Edmund Pettus Bridge to mark the 51st commemoration of Bloody Sunday and also visited Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas; Montgomery’s Dexter Avenue Baptist Church, where the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. served as pastor; the home of slain Civil Rights leader Medgar Evers, in Jackson, Miss.; the campus of the University of Mississippi in Oxford; and the Lorraine Motel in Memphis, where Dr. Martin Luther King was assassinated.

WORLD-CHANGING FACULTY AND ACADEMICS

Great universities are shaped by scholars who create and share knowledge. Support for The Second Century Campaign has enabled SMU to reach and exceed its goal for establishing new endowed faculty positions, helping to attract leading experts in an astonishing array of fields and significantly enhancing the University's academic offerings and critical research initiatives. New faculty endowments and the scholars they bring to the Hilltop also strengthen SMU's reputation as a repository of expertise in socially relevant topics. Support for facilities and academic programs have further contributed to the University's quality as an academic center excelling in both teaching and inquiry.

ENDOWMENT REPORT

The SMU endowment ended the fiscal year on May 31, 2016, with a market value of $1.384 billion, representing a decrease of $121.3 million from the prior fiscal year. During the year the University received substantial endowment gifts of $29.8 million, plus many more new commitments that will be added to the endowment in future years. Endowment distributions of $59.7 million provided support to University operations and accounted for 14% of the operating revenue budget. Multiple restricted and unrestricted purposes were funded, including support for scholarships, faculty, educational programs and libraries.

Total return was -5.7% for the one-year period ended May 31, 2016. Although performance was disappointing this year, returns have been favorable over the past three and five years relative to peer institutions. The continued decline in oil prices negatively impacted the endowment's energy investments and global equities also detracted from performance. International stocks continued to lag U.S. stocks during the fiscal year, as anemic growth rates, deteriorating profit margins and deflationary fears weighed heavily on European and Japanese equity markets. Despite these challenges, SMU remains focused on implementing long-term investment strategies that have served the University well in years past.

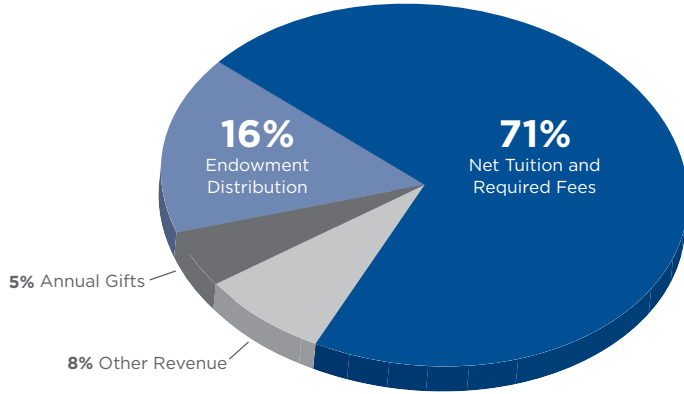

SMU's donors have always been generous, and we thank them for their support of the University and the endowment over the past year. We pledge to continue concentrating on investment strategies and opportunities that should allow the endowment to grow over time and maintain appropriate levels of risk and diversification. Meeting these goals over the long term will enable the endowment to support SMU in perpetuity.

GIVING

The inspiring support from alumni, parents, faculty, staff, students, friends and organizations for SMU continued in 2015–16. Bold investments throughout The Second Century Campaign have created a strong foundation for SMU’s future – and created new opportunities for donors to support students, faculty, academic programs and the campus experience.

Highlights of the fiscal year include:

- More than 31,000 donors collectively gave more than $99 million in cash contributions – the fourth highest recorded annual revenue total in SMU history. More than $46.5 million was given to support current operations, and $52.9 million was directed to capital projects and the SMU endowment.
- SMU Athletics marked the eighth consecutive record-setting fundraising year for gifts directed to current operations, with $10.4 million raised. Within that amount, unrestricted gifts through the Mustang Club totaled nearly $5.5 million, 80% higher than just four years ago. Capital and endowment giving added more than $8.1 million, led by gifts to the Trinity Forest Golf Course and Robson & Lindley Aquatics Center. Together, operational, capital and endowment revenue received for SMU Athletics in FY16 was more than $18.5 million.
- 3,500-plus households made contributions totaling $1,000 or more and are recognized as President’s Associates.
- More than 13,500 households made gifts and pledge payments to SMU in at least two consecutive years, and more than 3,000 households have contributed consecutively for at least 10 years. All are recognized as members of the Hilltop Society.
- 1,575 volunteers led and supported alumni, parent and friend activities around the world, and 72% of these volunteers also made a gift to SMU.
