PIZZA HUT PARK

The first large-scale soccer facility of its type in the United States, Pizza Hut Park opened on Aug. 6, 2005. Located at the intersection of Main Street and the Dallas North Tollway in Frisco, Texas, Pizza Hut Park is approximately 30 miles north of downtown Dallas. The combination of a world-class stadium and a sports park make Pizza Hut Park one of the best and most unique soccer facilities in the world. Included in the facility is the 20,500 state-of-art pro soccer stadium, along with 17 championship quality soccer fields located just north of the stadium. The 117-acre master development is used over 300 days a year, hosting Major League Soccer matches, U.S. Men's and Women's National Team soccer matches, major concerts, international soccer matches, collegiate soccer matches and High School football.

FRISCO, TEXAS

Located 30 minutes north of downtown Dallas, Frisco, Texas is one of the fastest growing cities in the United States. A 2007 Forbes study named Frisco as the eighth-fastest growing suburb in the United States. Frisco includes a tremendous number of retail properties, including Stonebriar Centre, a 165-store regional mall, and IKEA, a furniture store with an area of 28,800 square meters (310,000 sq ft). Retail establishments and restaurant chains line Preston Road, which is one of the major north-south-running traffic arteries in the city.
