Cuney was of Negro, Indian, and Swiss decent. In 1867 the family settled in Galveston. Cuney was active in Republican politics and an active business leader. He tells of the Negro prosecutions in Fort Bend in 1888; the "lily whites," the color bar, the National Convention of 1896, etc. President Harrison appointed him collector of the port of Galveston in 1889.

[African Americans] [Jacobs, Harriet]. Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl. Written by Herself. Edited by L. Maria Child. Boston: Published for the Author, 1861. 306 p.

From the collection of Guy Benton Johnson, a former Kenan Professor in sociology and anthropology at the University of North Carolina, where he was a member of the faculty for 45 years. Johnson was born in Caddo Mills, Texas, in 1901. He received a B.A. from Baylor University in 1921 and an M.A. from the University of Chicago one year later. He earned a Ph.D. from UNC in 1927, three years after joining the faculty. Johnson was known nationally for his efforts to improve race relations in the South. During the 1920s, Johnson studied black culture, including folk music and dialect. The copy bears intriguing annotations (in Johnson's hand?), the most notable of which is "The sex life of an African [crossed out] slave girl."

[Almanacs] The Peruna Ready Advisor Almanac for 1917. Columbus, Ohio: S.B. Hartman, 1916. 16 p. “How to keep well. Issued each year by the Peruna Co. Columbus O.”

Mr. William Bauer, of Burton, Texas, a “ginner and miller,” writes: “Some years ago I lost my hearing in my left ear, and upon examination by a specialist, catarrh was decided to be the cause. I took a course of treatment and regained my hearing for a time, but soon lost it completely. I commenced to take Peruna according to directions, and have taken eight bottles in all, and my hearing is completely restored, and I shall sing the praises of Peruna whenever an opportunity occurs.”

[Almanacs] The Tribune Almanac and Political Register for 1856. New York: Greeley & McElrath, [1855].

Also, issues for 1857-1860, 1862-1864, 1867-1869. Much valuable information on political and economic issues, railroads, western expansion, slavery, reconstruction, plus extensive advertisements (and notes on the weather).

[Business] Montana. Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Industry. First Annual Report ... Helena, Mont.: State Publishing Co., 1893. 341 p.

Much useful information on labor, including results of a survey “Opinions of Wage Earners.” A cigarmaker in Missoula remarks, “If home industry were patronized 30 cigarmakers could find work here.” There were 7 cigarmakers in Montana at this time, 6 men and 1 woman.

[Business] Morrow, S.A. Brevity, Simplicity and Utility Applied to Business Calculations, by S.A. Morrow of Roby, Texas. Brownwood, Tex.: Banner Print, [1883-1897]. 19th ed. 46,[1] p.

A popular ready-reckoner on the plains: a 17th edition was printed in Dallas in 1883. If all the preceding editions were printed in Texas, Morrow's work was a confirmed local phenomenon. The Brown County Banner was established in 1875 and merged with the Brownwood Bulletin in 1897, making a pre-1897 imprint date likely. Morrow copyrighted his work in 1872, 1874, and 1883. Unrecorded elsewhere, and among the earliest imprints from Brownwood.

[Civil War] Bacon, Alvan Q. Thrilling Adventures of a Pioneer Boy, while a Prisoner of War. Alvan Q. Bacon, His capture at the Battle of Shiloh and Escape from Macon, Ga., going six hundred miles in canoes by night, got to a Union gun boat and sailed by ocean to New York. Written by himself. Returning to his regiment was afterwards killed at the siege of Vicksburg. Sold for the benefit of his father who is nearly blind. Price 10 cents. [N.P., 1863?] 32 p.

An extraordinary traveler, who before the war had wandered in the trans-Mississippi. Daring adventures and escapes, including transport by railroad cars. Our copy appears to have a variant title from the other recorded issues. Appears to have been printed while the war was still underway, so a date of 1863-1865 is likely.

[Civil War] Polley, J.B. Hood's Texas Brigade. Its Marches, Its Battles, Its Achievements. New York and Washington: Neale Publishing, 1910. 347 p.

"The brigade originally consisted of the 1st, 4th, and 5th Texas Regiments with about 3,500 men. During the war recruits enlarged the size to about 4,480 men. Few units suffered more casualties: at its surrender, the unit had only about 447 officers and men."--Jenkins

Howes P465. Jenkins, Basic Texas Books, 165. Nevins I-147.

Gift of B.B. Barr & John N. Rowe, III.

[Conduct Books] Burgh, James. Youth's Friendly Monitor; or, the Affectionate Schoolmaster. Containing his last pathetic farewell lecture to his young pupils, on their entrance into a busy world ... London: T. Read, 1752. 48, [4] p.

With the armorial bookplate of William IV, King of England (reigned 1830-1836). From the Mary Ellen Fisher & Harold Wilson Fisher collection.

[Conduct Books] Manners, Mrs. At Home and Abroad; or, How to Behave. New York: D. Appleton & Co., 1864. 165 p. "Third thousand." With tipped-in slip, from Rickey & Carroll, booksellers, Cincinnati, to the editor of the Gazette.

"To which is added the etiquette of courtship, marriage, domestic duties, and fifty-six rules to be observed in general society."

[Cookbooks] The Canton Cook Book of Canton. Compiled from recipes contributed by the ladies of Canton. [Canton, Mo.]: The Ladies of the Baptist Church, 1895. [1-9], 10-132 p. + 20 blank leaves bound between pp. 122 and 123. At head of title: Tried and True Recipes. Signed recipes; ads. From the Preface: "We kindly thank the ladies of Canton for the valuable recipes contributed within this book. Trusting it will find favor with the public and be early adopted in their respective families.—Ladies' Society." Especially in the desserts sections there are several different recipes for the same dish, revealing the variety of local practice. There are 12 handwritten recipes and many small recipe clippings appended to the blank leaves. These, together with the telltale interior stains, provide a profile of the previous owner's culinary interests. See Cook, p. 147. Cook cites the second edition of 1900 (Tried and True Recipes. The Canton Cook Book of Canton) and speculates that the first edition carried the date of 1899 (no copy located). We believe this copy, with a publication date of 1895, may in fact be the elusive first edition. No other library copy located. An early Missouri cookbook and the first church cookbook from Canton.

[Cookbooks] Central Congregational Church Cook Book. A Collection of the Very Best Receipts Used by the Women of Central Congregational Church. Compiled by Division No. 2. Topeka, Kansas: Trapp Print Shop, 1913. 126 p. Extraordinary advertisements, including photographs of individuals, the church, and the town. With preface by Charles M. Sheldon, congregational minister who was the author of the best-selling novel, In His Steps, the popular book which gave us the phrase, "What would Jesus do?"

[Cookbooks] Cook Book. Edited by the "Win One More" Class of the West Methodist Church, Guthrie, Oklahoma. [Guthrie, 1946]. 115 p. Unrecorded elsewhere. Interspersed with ads.

Ads; some recipes signed. Original blue wraps. Not in Bitting, Brown, or Cagle. Cook lists only six church/charity cookbooks from Arizona prior to her cut-off date of 1915. Only one library copy located, that being the copy at Arizona State University.

[Cookbooks] My Mother's Cook Book. Compiled by Ladies of St. Louis, and sold for the benefit of the Women's Christian Home. Saint Louis: Hugh R. Hildreth Printing Company ..., 1880. [second edition] 244 p. + [4] p. ads + [8] lined pages for personal recipes. Signed recipes; ads. Handwritten recipes on all 8 of the blank pages at end (21 recipes in all). Cook, p. 145. The first edition of 1875 is the first charity cookbook published in Missouri listed by Cook; this second edition is the third imprint from the state listed in Cook. No library copies located. A rare and early Missouri charity cookbook.

[Cookbooks] The Nevada Cook Book: Proved Receipts Collected and Arranged by the Ladies of the Central Christian Church. Nevada, Mo.: Southwest Mail Printing Co., 1896. 134 p.

Interleaved, with additional recipes in manuscript. Unrecorded in Cagle, Cook, OCLC. Not the first cookbook from Nevada, Mo. (the Episcopal women published their Nevada City Cook Book in 1889) but early, nonetheless.

[Cookbooks] The Philathea Cook Book. Select Recipes. Collected and arranged by the Philathea Sabbath School Class of the First Baptist Church, Springfield, Missouri. Springfield, Mo.: Press of Inland Printing and Binding Co., 1911. 151, [1] p. Signed recipes, ads. Contains several Southern dishes. For Fried Green Tomatoes, there is the comment, "This is nice for breakfast." Includes a list of officers of the Philathea Sabbath School Class. From the Eloise Schofield collection, with her signature on title page. Not in standard bibliographies. No library copy located.

[Cookbooks] Presbyterian Cook Book. Revised edition. Published by the Ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, Emporia, Kansas. Emporia, Kansas: Press of Joseph Langellier, 1900. 240 p. + erratum leaf. Illus. Signed recipes; ads. This is one of those wonderfully personalized cookbooks, apparently owned and used in Kansas, possibly by one owner, who penciled dates from 1904 to 1958. There are short recipe annotations indicating which recipes the owner found good. Both manuscript slips and clippings (some pasted on advertising pages) are laid in and left in the sections where the previous owner likely put them. Also found are a few handwritten recipes on blank pages or in the margins. Taken together, this is the kind of evidence sought by culinary historians in their research on how cookbooks were used and what dishes were actually cooked at home at a particular time and in a particular region. Includes a picture of Stuart Hall at The College of Emporia. Scarce; only one library copy located, at the University of Kansas. Cook, p. 86-87. Cook speculates that there was an earlier edition (1899?) but was unable to locate a copy. No earlier edition could be found in other standard bibliographies.

[Manuscripts] Springfield Ladies Saturday Club. Minute book. 1879-1891.

Constitution, lists of members, and minutes of meetings of this women's club in Springfield, Missouri. Much on reading, music, the arts, current events, etc. Typical is this extract from April 16, 1881: "Miss Scholtern gave an interesting sketch of Wilkie Collins and his literary career. Mrs. Milner's paper and extracts on Disraeli gave rise to some discussion, remarks, pro and con, by Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Owen followed by a burlesque on Endymion, read by Miss Allen. Mrs. Geiger read some extracts bearing upon the political and domestic life of Disraeli." According to the Western Historical Manuscript Collection at the University of Missouri, Rolla, "The Springfield Ladies Saturday Club was a social and study group organized in 1879. It was one of the oldest such clubs in the state, and was one of the earliest members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Missouri. The Club's fortnightly meetings usually consisted of two parts. The first was devoted to reports on and discussions of historical and political topics, and the second part included musical performances and literary reviews. Faculty members from Southwest Missouri State Teachers College and from Drury College were frequent lecturers and guests. The club supported civic and social improvements through the Springfield Chamber of Commerce, maintained a scholarship fund, and contributed to the Greene County Tuberculosis Association and the Burge Hospital."

Illus.

A scarce relic from the optimistic early days of one of the last attempts to build a mainstream U.S. auto company from scratch. Despite high-quality autos and innovative marketing (one model sold through the Sears catalogue), the undercapitalized K-F didn't last through the early 1950s. An ephemeral record of postwar industrial culture, touching indirectly on labor and race relations, postwar housing (there is much on the planning and construction of the company town, Westwillow), celebrity endorsements (Oliver Hardy and an Esquire Girl are two) and, as might be guessed from the headline "Beautiful Women Choose Beautiful Automobiles," the occasional dose of cheesecake culled from the K-F work force.

[Poetry] Hamlett, Mrs. W.J. Baccalaureate Poem. To the Graduating Class of the Palestine Female College. Dedicated to the Teachers of Texas, Who Have so Kindly Received that Earlier Poem, "Shall We Divide the State," with Most Cordial and Fraternal Greeting. Written by Request, and Delivered in the College Hall, Wednesday Evening, June 25th, 1879. [s.l.: s.n.], 1879. [4] p.

The Palestine Female College began in 1858; in 1881, it transferred its assets to the Palestine public school system. Mrs. W.J. Hamlett was, we presume, the wife of William J. Hamlett, postmaster of Montalba, Texas, a village in Anderson County. Palestine had two newspapers at this time, the Palestine Advocate and the Eastern Texas News, and this imprint was probably printed in the office of one them. Hamlett's Baccalaureate Poem is the earliest non-serial imprint from Palestine we have been able to identify and is unrecorded elsewhere. Gift of Al Peters.

[Poetry] McFaden, Mildred S. Blossoms by the Wayside. Kansas City: Hudson-Kimberly, 1904. 105 p.
A presentation copy, inscribed on the verso of the frontispiece, signed by the author and dated St. Louis, Jan. 30, 192. McFaden appears to have composed verses while traveling. She includes pieces on California, the Utah state flower, and Minnehaha Falls. There are several on Missouri themes, one of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and one on a show horse named Rex McDonald: "And as I gazed, my fancy drifted fast / Adown the ages, and to myself I said: / "How many million years, O Time, have sped / In evolving such a form at last?"

[Poetry] Miller, Freeman E. Oklahoma and Other Poems. Buffalo, N.Y.: Charles Wells Moulton, 1895. 126 p.
Miller was professor of English at the Agricultural & Mechanical College of the Oklahoma Territory.

[Poetry] Nebraska Poets. One Hundred Pages of Prairie Poems. Omaha, Neb.: Megeath Stationery Company, 1893. 101 p.

"Columbian edition." Contains a valuable list of the contributors (32 poets in all, of which 13 are women) with brief biographical notes. Typical is this entry: "Collin R. Davidson is as much of a wit as a poet. In presenting his quatrain Mr. Davidson remarked: 'If you are to praise rivers and lakes and other transportation agencies I do not see what is the matter with a gentle word for the railroads which we know have built the west country. A railroad may not be as poetic as a mountain stream, but it gets there. Why, imagine a trunk line lying idle as long as the Mississippi river did before doing anything for civilization.' Mr. Davidson's appreciation is warped by the fact that he is a railroad man. He has written several interesting prose articles for the newspapers." The quatrain in question is entitled "Credit":

Who made the West Land? Why God made the plains,
The rivers, the hills and the great mountain chains;
Each low-lying valley, each pine-crested butte—
But the cities were made by the "Burlington Route."

[Poetry] Plancarte, Joseph. *Poema Panegirico, Hispano-Latino, dedicado a la Inmaculada Concepcion de Maria Santisima nuestra señora ...*Mexico: Por Don Felipe de Zúñiga y Ontiveros, 1790. [2], 24pp. (Beristain 2415)
"Plancarte [fue] natural de la villa de Zamora, en la provincia de Michoacan, lector jubilado del orden de San Francisco, guardian del convento de Celaya y definidor de la provincia de S. Pedro y S. Pablo." Text consists of three cantos, two in Spanish, one in Latin.

[Poetry] Thorndyke, Mrs. E.P. Astrea, or Goddess of Justice. San Francisco: Amanda M. Slocum, book and job printer, 1881. 104, [2] p.

A presentation copy, inscribed in violet ink on the front free endpaper, "Mrs. Olive M. Washburne, from your old friend, The Author, Jan. 1st, 1881." Poems (and a few short prose pieces) from a California spiritualist, with a number of them transmitted to her from the spirit world; the "Proem" is in fact the work of Mrs. Hemans—dictated from beyond the grave. An attractive book from the press of fellow California spiritualist and suffragist Amanda Slocum, with an index to the text and several elaborate type ornaments.

[Poetry] Trueman, D. Cottage Poems. Mount Pleasant, Ohio: Enoch Harris, 1848. 256 p.

[Spiritualism] Bouton, Dr. J. B. Two Years Among the Spirits in the Godless Town of Liberal [wrapper title]. Liberal, Mo.: W. S. Allison, Publisher, (1888). 8vo, original pictorial printed blue wrappers, 40 pages. Illus. First edition

Unrecorded. "This thing called Spiritualism is a contagious disease, and a dangerous one. About four years ago, I discovered that it was spreading rapidly throughout the country, and was getting a dangerous hold here in Liberal. Seeing the necessity of a remedy, I prescribed what I then believed to be the only safe and effectual one--which was to give those afflicted a Liberal dose of spook syrup" The first-hand account of the set-up and execution of an elaborate hoax, perhaps symptomatic of the social ferment of the early days of the free thought colony of Liberal, from the ersatz medium behind the false rappings, spirit writing and manifestations. Professed educational motivations aside, Bouton's account hints at a certain glee in fooling his gullible neighbors (including the town's founder, G. H. Walser); he recounts in detail how he progresses from surreptitiously tipping the table to building an elaborate trap-door system and enlisting confederates to produce physical manifestations; the account also includes much in the way of newspaper extracts, correspondence with Mary White, and the affection of the locals for the spirit of "Old Snag," a deceased Snake Indian.
