

What's On Your Mind – November 2008

- I continually have trouble doing the most basic of my school work on the library computers, such as delete files off my personal flash drive. Please lower the security levels.

It can be frustrating when a computer does not allow you to manipulate files, etc., but using your flash drive on one of the library public computers should not be a problem. Security on these computers is for your protection as well as the university, so that only you can access your work.

- You moved the study carrels on the second floor! You replaced them w/tables. I hate tables! Please put the old study carrels back!! Thank you.

Our Student Advisory Council urged us to add more study tables, especially larger tables with room to spread out work, space for a laptop, etc. You will find individual study carrels are still in use throughout the building.

- A new Korean-English Dictionary. Fondren only has one hard copy in the reference section and it is not only out of date in the Romanization of the Hangul letters, but it offers only an English reference to words translation (no Korean to English translation).

A new Korean-English dictionary has been ordered for reference, and older editions have been moved to the circulating collection.

- The library needs to add "28 Days Later" and "28 Weeks Later" to the DVD collection.

Both titles will be ordered.

- Blu-Ray at the media library? We are looking into adding a blu-ray player, based on title availability and faculty and student interest.
