EARLY PROGRESS REPORTS:

Get help early if your progress reports identify some problem areas. If you want to strengthen your academic performance, remember to take advantage of the Altshuler Learning Enhancement Center. Faculty at the Writing Center can work with undergraduate and graduate students on drafts of papers. L.E.C. staff are available to help undergraduates with time management, general organization, study habits, and the like. Academic coaches can meet one-to-one with students with learning disabilities and/or ADHD. There's free tutoring in many undergraduate courses. If you have questions, call 214-768-1470.
