Have to cancel your proctored test at DASS?

We need no less than 1 school day notice if you need to cancel your test with us. So before you schedule with us, please have details worked out with your professor about where and when you'll be tested. If you schedule testing with DASS but then decide to test with your professor instead, you MUST let us know 1 school day in advance, in order for us to rearrange our proctor coverage. If you do not give us notice, we will notify your professor of your failure to follow DASS procedures.

2. On Thursday, Oct. 11th, 6-7:30 pm - Experience Dyslexia® in honor of Dyslexia Awareness Month. Join the Dallas branch of the International Dyslexia Association for a free simulation exercise. This is great for those who want to better understand what it is like to experience dyslexia. More information and the way to register can be found at <http://www.dbida.org>

A student organization just for YOU!

SMU offers a unique chance to participate in a student-run organization specifically for students with LD or ADHD. This is an opportunity to learn from other students about great ways to manage your learning differences and be your most successful YOU. Join Students for New Learning (SNL)

Thursday, Oct. 4th at 5pm for pizza and discussion in room 217 of the LEC.

Emerging Leaders 2012-2013 summer internship program for college and grad students with disabilities is underway. It offers paid summer internships at many of America's leading corporations. These companies are members of the National Business & Disability Council (www.nbdc.com) and are proactive in recruiting qualified people with disabilities. To be considered for an internship, a student must be an enrolled undergraduate or graduate student, who has completed at least 60 credits, and is maintaining at least a 2.5 GPA. More information can be found on the web site at www.emerging-leaders.com. Application deadline is Jan. 4, 2013.
